

Gangsters and Others in the Metropolis

By Stephen Bolles

NEW YORK.—To one who has not seen New York since the days when every other place on a corner was a saloon, it presents a strange appearance. I just happened to be interested in the chances which Mr. La Follette made in the alien lands of New York. In that section of the city along East Houston street where, in two blocks in the neighborhood of the old Hotel Hamilton, there is a population of nearly 7,000, where wine rooms and noise and staggering men and worse women filled the night air twenty years ago, it was as quiet as a convent. It was as if the city had been "chasing the duck" and "rushing the prowl," the families here are either at the movies or in the earlier evening lazing in the more pretentious shops within doors.

In all this section where there is not one home that does not suggest southern or "Mittelpost" or where there are people with the marks of leather on the windows than all others, the city has settled down to a better life than it has ever enjoyed in its history. Everywhere in the city around old Chatham Square there are fewer loaves and buns and the passing of the barrel houses seems to have ended the life of hobo. There are no more of the kind. It will be a world without end. It is over in this section of New York where the gangster breeds. He is not immoral, but unmoral. Ninety percent of the population of the city and outlaws are from 18 to 25 years of age. Most of them are the sons of immigrants. There is no such thing as a slum dweller who is a native born. The slum dweller is a foreigner in the United States and there are few Irish or Germans among this lot. It would be as hard to find one of that ancestry as it would be to discover a Yankee.

I mention this because the gangster and the criminal which comes from the gang is an ethnological study. It has become so, for all the things that are done in the city are done in the name of the gang. There is no romance about this gangster. There are no "Wild Bills" or "Texas Jacks" in this section. He is a man of the city. He is a hood type and it is doubtful if any of these gangsters ever heard of any of the information that is being given from the racing form and the sporting pages. He is a man of the city and in most cases is a doped head at 18. He loves blackmail on tradesmen and gets what he wants without paying for it.

What makes him? You may ask a dozen new policemen, students of crime and criminology, social workers, and citizens and you will not get a dozen answers all ending with the same sentiment. He is a hood type and it is doubtful if any of these gangsters ever heard of any of the information that is being given from the racing form and the sporting pages. He is a man of the city and in most cases is a doped head at 18. He loves blackmail on tradesmen and gets what he wants without paying for it.

Business gradually encroaches on the home. Old residence districts have become streets of skyscrapers. The fine old restaurants and eating places where food was a consideration have been replaced by the new lights, music, dancing, make up for the badness of the food, and the tawdry tinsel of walls and the high price for the checking and service that is put into the belief that "this is the life."

When the theaters pour out their thousands from 42nd street to Columbus circle, one gets some idea of the number of people who are in the city in New York. Here come about a million people a day who make up the visiting brethren and sisters who fill the theaters. They are the people who talk with broken accent. He is easily identified. Once upon a time he was not above 23d street; now he covers Manhattan. In the melee of taxis and automobiles, he is a man and a maid. Why he took the hansom will forever remain a mystery, but in all New York that I saw, it was the only time that I saw a great population known as a "keb."

Here they are trying to censor the theater. Most of the plays are frankly vulgar. "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" of 1900 was a Sunday School play beside the vulgarity and frank exposure on the stage. The Puritans—and one called a Puritan when he does not agree wholly and enthusiastically with the degenerates who are writing plays now—are not the ones who are kicking up the fuss, but the few who have been writing for the stage and producing something in drama and comedy that does not nauseate. One cannot discuss the details in a decent newspaper, and in fact in any newspaper. The New York papers refuse to do so and say in type what the stage presents. The suburbs of New York, backed by the browns, because they have been tempted to dominate politics so completely that the aroused nation put them out of business. They said it was the only time that they had been warned repeatedly that they were coming. And the train went and found them standing on the platform unable to say what had happened. So with movie censorship. They made the movies go so far that censorship was threatened, but the producers and managers, with the future of the industry in their hands, went boldly along until they were awakened to the fact that censorship had arrived. One of the results is seen in the fact that the "Covered Wagon" is a "one" and "Dill Hicken" with W. S. Hart, "Miles Standish," and plays of that nature are the big money getters in the metropolis.

New York on a rainy day is worse than Chicago, and the New Yorker crawls into his shell, refusing to be comforted.

Car load after car load of turkeys, ducks, geese, and other fowl, and down to 28 cents, failed to sell and 30,000 ducks went into a cold storage for Christmas. Other fowls are high. Vegetables are in the sky. Clothing as shown in the window is a trifle.

FUSION IS SOUGHT

Third Party Seeking Deal With Democrats for State Offices.

BULLETIN.—(By Associated Press.)
Pierre, S. D.—An eleven-hour effort by a group of farmer-laborers to effect a fusion with the democrats, after the former had bolted its regular convention, came to naught tonight as the democrats and laborers completed selection of separate slates.

BULLETIN.—(By Associated Press.)
Washington.—President Coolidge will acknowledge the action of the South Dakota republicans in selecting a slate of electors, and will send a communication to republican leaders of that state which may go a long way toward indicating his attitude toward 1924. At the White House, officials made no attempt to discuss their selection. In the majority given the president over William Johnson.

SAYS WHISTLES AT FRONT OF BOILERS WOULD SAVE LIVES

Bloomington, Ind.—If locomotive whistles were placed in more forward positions and adapted to a single high pitched note, many lives would be saved and approximately $5,000 would be cut from railroad coal bills, according to Prof. Arthur L. Foley of Indiana university. Prof. Foley has made a study of sound intensity and cost of operating locomotive whistles and claims the low pitched or "chimes" whistles are only about one-sixth as effective as a high pitched warning signal.

The shriek of the present whistles is limited, he explains, because of the smoke stack, bell, steam pipe, generator and a blanket of hot gases in front of it, causing the sound to be broadcasted to the side of the track and not down the right of way toward a crossing.

Whistles should be standardized and given a higher pitch and purpose of sound whistles for their purpose prohibited, according to Dr. Foley. Dr. Foley has calculated that 2,434,000 tons of coal are consumed annually in generating steam to blow the nation's locomotive whistles, a cost of $3,302,078, estimating the coal at $3 a ton. With the more forward location and a higher pitched whistle, he maintains two-thirds of the coal and many lives could be saved annually.

ROCK SHORTHORNS WINNING HONORS AT INTERNATIONAL

RYE BROTHERS' HEIFERS SECOND AND FIFTH IN BIG CLASS.

MARQUART THIRD Wins Ribbon on Golden Lady, 3-year-old; R. W. Lamb Cow Is Fifth.

By L. C. FRENCH

Chicago.—Rock County Shorthorns scored high in the female division at the International show. In age cow class, in which Rock had no entry, partly from the Clampt Hurd, Iowa, took the blue.

Marquart Brothers' Milton Junior, took third on Golden Lady, a prize winner last year in the three year old class. Silver Gem from the R. W. Lamb herd was fifth and there were fourteen cows in the ring.

The entry of Robert Traynor, Chicago, won first in the male division, but failed to qualify. First place then went to Simpson Ellen, shown by Adam Kopley, Lake, Ill. Tania Pail Betty, from the Devoe Cattle Co., took the blue in the two year old class and is an outstanding cow. Roberts Regal Winter Rose, from the Lamb Herd, stood seventh in line.

In the yearling class, Walter Grove Belle from the Rye Brothers' Herd, Avalon, took a second and Tulpia Beauty, from the same herd, fifth in a large class. The blue ribbon went to Cornelia from the McMarlin Herd, Minnesota. It was a close judging contest between the two top animals.

Lay Mayflower 60, from Little Hope, took third prize in heifer class. Rock County entries also stood seventh, eighth and ninth in line in a class of 27 animals.

The evening judges Thursday morning and championships awarded.

Wisconsin Insurgents Demand Coolidge Give His Support in State

By DAVID LAWRENCE Copyright 1928 by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington.—Regular republicans from Wisconsin have sent word to the insurgent group that the only way to cure the "insurgency" which has broken out in the house of representatives is to throw the support of the administration to the republican party in the Bagder state.

Holding up the organization of the house is but a symptom of what is going on in the republican party. There is an air of confusion about the party label at the primaries has demonstrated that they do not obey the will of the majority of their party. That they have been doing a simple question of how to carry out the will of the majority of the party is likely to be repeated on important matters of legislation.

Wisconsin Insurgents organized. The president has been told that the republican in Wisconsin have organized and are ready not only to start contesting delegations for the next republican national convention, but are prepared to carry the fight into the congressional primaries so as to secure the nominations of republicans who will be republicans in fact when they come to Washington.

LA FOLLETTE BLOC QUILTS WAR AFTER RULES CONCESSION

30-DAY TRUCE MADE TO ALLOW SUGGESTIONS ON CHANGES.

ON NINTH BALLOT

Program of Insurgent Demands Dwindles to Single Lone Issue on Showdown.

BULLETIN.—(By Associated Press.)

Washington.—Frederick H. Gillett of Massachusetts, was re-elected speaker of the house today, when the republican insurgents voted for him for the first time since a deadlock developed Monday.

The re-election of Mr. Gillett completed organization of the 68th congress and paved the way for President Coolidge's message to a joint session.

On the final ballot Gillett received 215 votes. Representative Garrett of Tennessee, the democratic candidate, had 197, and two voted for Representative Madison, Representative Kvale, independent, Minnesota, and "Geddie, farmer-labor, Minnesota, who had supported Cooper, voted "present," as did Garrett and Berger, socialist.

By STEPHEN BOLLES
Washington, D. C.—President Calvin Coolidge, following the example of the two preceding presidents, will read his message to the sixty-eighth congress Thursday, shortly after noon.

After holding up the business of the house and the work of congress for two days, the insurgent members found a way out Tuesday night, when a small break in the fence of the regulars was opened. Starting with many demands and a considerable program of work, the insurgents finally discarded all but a change in the rules as an excuse for holding out. They merely were voicing a protest, also, of many of the regulars' unpopularity in the house, desiring the correction in the rules.

Must Be Considered.
But the Wisconsin members had also another aim.—They wanted to show the republican majority that the insurgent members were not a "wild" bunch, but a group of men who were serious about the work of congress. It was Senator La Follette's method of displaying to the regular republicans that in every respect the insurgent republicans were as good as the regulars. The 17 constituted an advance skirmish line. Cooper had no chance in the world to be selected and, by the same name, neither had the insurgent members. Eventually, it is believed, Gillett would have succeeded by absentee votes of the democrats. When Nicholson's request, stood aside while other members of the Illinois delegation took the oath.

Demands Dwindle.
The insurgent talk was not half so bold at the finish as at the opening, when it was said that the insurgents would remain out "until hell froze over." The insurgents' demands of committee assignments was discarded early, though in the beginning this had been one of the principle demands of the Wisconsin bloc.

Mr. Cooper retorted to the Gazette a long series of reasons why the rules should be changed. The old rules will be adopted for 30 days. At the end of that time the new rules, with such amendments as the committee may present, will be brought up for consideration. If the rules wanted by the insurgents are adopted they will have won; if the house turns them down they have gained nothing but a reputation for being obstinate. The regulars will have the organization and the Wisconsin bloc in the house, working with La Follette and his friends in the senate, will be able only to "hurry" legislation.

If the rules wanted by the insurgents are adopted they will have won; if the house turns them down they have gained nothing but a reputation for being obstinate. The regulars will have the organization and the Wisconsin bloc in the house, working with La Follette and his friends in the senate, will be able only to "hurry" legislation.

A few minutes before the house opened today, the insurgents' demands of committee assignments was discarded early, though in the beginning this had been one of the principle demands of the Wisconsin bloc.

PROTEST SEATING OF TWO ILLINOIS REPRESENTATIVES

BY ASSOCIATED PRESS

Washington.—Representative Miller, republican, and Buckley, democrat, were sworn in as members of the house today after protests had been made to their being seated.

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Washington.—A protest against the seating of Edward S. Miller as a republican member of the house from the 22nd Illinois district was made today from the floor by Representative Bryan, democrat of Illinois, as representatives elect from that state were about to take the oath of office.

Objection to the swearing in of Representatives James Buckley as a democratic member of the house from the 6th Illinois district was raised by Representative Britton, republican, Illinois. Representative Miller and Buckley, at Speaker Gillett's request, stood aside while other members of the Illinois delegation took the oath.

Aristocracy of Feathered World at Chicago Show

Chicago.—Turkeys of the kind that grace the White House board: Japanese silkies, with fur instead of feathers; Canadian Chantrelles and many other varieties of fowl and pet stock will be exhibited at the annual Coliseum poultry show in Chicago, Dec. 11 to 13.

Farmers from Texas, Florida, Arkansas, New York, the New England states, Pennsylvania and Montana have entered their prize birds, to compete with those of Illinois, Michigan, Indiana and Wisconsin.

Mrs. Bill Fowler of Rockville, Ill., whose blue-black turkey was eaten last year by former President Harding, will show several of her turkeys.

The Canadian Chantrelles, bred by the Trappist monks to withstand the rigors of the northern climate, will be seen.

The Blue Andalusian club, which will hold its annual meeting in connection with the show, will have an impressive exhibit of its favorite fowl which is rapidly gaining popularity with the fancy.

C. N. Myers, the "who's-king" of Hanover, Pa., will enter some of his Blue Plymouth Rocks, winners at the Madison Square Garden shows in New York. A string of prize-winning White Plymouth Rocks will be exhibited by Adam Pott of Hartford, Wis. Illinois will be well represented by the entry of S. C. White Lehighers from Hillview farm at Mendon, Ill.

According to Theodore Howes, secretary of the Great Mid-West Poultry and Pet Stock association, the show will be the biggest of its kind ever staged in Chicago.

TURN ON LIGHTS IN POULTRY HOUSE

It is an axiom that the hen that produces eggs during the months running from November to April, lays the best eggs. The reason for this is that the hen is in the peak of her life, and the light is the factor that contributes to her egg production. It is now the time to turn on the lights.

CHECK CRIMINALS BY EUROPEAN PLAN

International Adoption of
"Know Book" Urged by Two Scientists.

Washington—International adoption of the "know book" as a means of checking criminals, eliminating much of the government's expense, keeping tabs generally on all members of the community, is advocated, according to private advice received here, by two Norwegian scientists, Dr. J. A. Mjølhus and J. E. The "know book" is a suggested pocket pamphlet to be made out of every child and to be kept through his life as a permanent record of his doings. It would contain his fingerprints, photograph, passport, physician's certificate of health, and certificate of his military and civilian record. Not only would this booklet aid police in apprehending culprits, but other far reaching advantages are claimed for it. It would prove useful in census taking, at hospitals, in the treatment of the unemployed, as a means of identification at banks, customs houses, foreign ports, military camps, etc. Besides, the system would educate the people in the higher conception of obligation to the community and to a feeling of social solidarity, it is declared. The system is said to be endorsed by Norwegian and German police and government officials. It will be presented to the forthcoming international conference at Rome on immigration and emigration called for next summer by Premier Mussolini.

Beloit Votes on Erection of City Hall Thursday

Beloit—Beloit votes Thursday on whether a bond issue of $125,000 shall be made for a city hall, and also to express sentiment on the proposal to erect a hospital. The vote on the hospital is merely sought as an expression of popular preference to guide the council in its future attitude toward a municipal hospital.

The three hospitals now serving the city will close their doors when the municipal hospital is opened. They have a combined capacity of only 66 beds which is woefully inadequate for the needs of Beloit. The supply of nurses is also inadequate and the present hospitals do not meet the state requirements for the training of graduate nurses.

STREET RAILWAY TAXES RECEIVED
Rock county's share of the state tax assessed against street railway companies operating here has been received by County Treasurer Arthur M. Church. Remittances for the following amounts have been made: Rockford and Interurban company, $531.78; Janesville Traction company, $270.52; and the Beloit Traction company, $531.78.

ELLIS COMMANDER OF BELOIT LEGION POST
Beloit—Ellis Denny was chosen commander of the Myron C. West post of the American Legion, succeeding Dr. F. A. Howell. Mr. Denny was formerly finance officer.

DIVISION OF BOYS' CONFERENCE INTO 2 GROUPS PROPOSED

Consideration as to whether it would be well to split the Wisconsin Older Boys' conference into northern and southern divisions was given at the conference at Wausau, held the three days following Thanksgiving, according to A. C. Preston, local boys' work secretary, who attended. Difficulty of transportation is given as the reason for the suggested change. As most of the delegates pay their own way, it is difficult to secure them from distant cities. Expenses this year were about $20 per boy from Janesville.

No action was taken on the suggestion at the conference, and the problem probably will be discussed and possibly some decision made at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. boys' work secretaries to be held in February. Should the change take place, it will make necessary the election of a new set of officers.

LEGION DELEGATION GOING TO EDGERTON
Ralph Kamps, former commander of the Richard Ellis post of the American Legion, will officiate at the installation of officers of the Edgerton Legion post at Edgerton, Thursday night. A delegation of legionnaires is expected to accompany him in automobiles, which will start from the Moose hall.

CANADIAN POLICE VET IS APPOINTED

Former Member of Northwest Mounted Will Succeed Stein Here.

Robert Cawston, 25, a veteran of five years' police service in Canada, three of which were spent as a member of the famous Royal Northwest Mounted Police, has been appointed a member of the Janesville police department. It was announced Wednesday by City Manager Henry Traxler and Chief Charles Newman that he will start work Thursday night, covering the west side beat formerly handled by Patrick Stein.

Mr. Cawston is now living at 119 South Washington street, Elkhorst, and has been employed by the Frank Hinton & Co. plant, manufacturers of hand instruments, for some time. His application for service on the Janesville police force came as a result of the call for young applicants, and the officials point out that the appointment is made purely on merit.

Besides his service with the Canadian "mounties," Mr. Cawston says he served one year as a police officer in Winnipeg, and one year in Winnipeg, both Canadian cities. He is of English birth, weighs 200 pounds and is 6 feet, 1 inch in height. He is married and has one child.

He will be made acquainted with his beat by Patrolman Walter Preece. Both the city manager and the chief feel confident Cawston will make an excellent addition to the force, bringing it back to its quota of 11 men.

SUES FOR ROYALTIES ON FORD MAGNETO

New Orleans—The dynamo magneto is the bone of contention in a damages suit for $11,000,000, a ramification of which was to be heard in United States circuit court of appeals here today. The suit was brought by Edward S. Huff, formerly an engineer of the Ford Motor company.

Huff claims to have invented the magneto while in the employ of Ford and asserts he was to have received a royalty of $2.50 for each one used. When he filed his suit in federal court at Miami last year, he calculated he had due $11,000,000.

The Ford defense is that the inventor was paid $10,000 and there was no agreement specifying a royalty.

Company "M" Vet Contributes Poem for Guard History

Members of the Service Star Legion are compiling a record and history of Company "M" each member of the crack national guard company to have a page devoted to him. Raymond J. Mason, Janesville, one of the veterans of the old Janesville Edgerton unit which conducted itself so heroically in the World war, has written a poem to be used on the first page of the history. It is entitled "Heart Beats of 'M'" and follows:

Returning, we renewed this struggle of life With a keenness we learned in the war; The battles of Europe were only a strife, And the ideals we're still fighting for.

Returning, we know what life really means, Some knowledge we learned "Over There!" Our hearts full of pride, with love interwoven, And our weapons to combat the unfair.

Returning, we left some of our comrades behind; 'Twas a grief that we held as our trust.

But we heed in our hearts that symbol divine, They tell fighting, for a cause that was just.

Returning, we consoled these heart-stricken mothers, 'Tis a task we shall always hold fast;

This done we can turn and always find others to aid. And so we would have it done unto us.

JANESVILLE WILL HAVE THE OPPORTUNITY TO SEE ONE OF THE BIGGEST PICTURES OF THE SEASON "MERRY GO ROUND" Acclaimed by Press and Public In New York!

This is the glorious, glittering spectacle of life in Vienna that took New York's Broadway by storm. It's a scintillating, vivid, gripping story of the riotous revelry and lavish luxury of an emperor's court, the fantastic whirl of life, love and laughter that swept everything before it and drew such tremendous crowds that following three big weeks at two of Broadway's largest picture theatres, it was booked for an indefinite run at one of the largest legitimate theatres in the very heart of New York's theatre district.

The New York newspapers were lavish in their praise of this stupendous spectacle. "Scintillating, fascinating," said the New York Times. "It will pay you to make a visit to the Hippodrome before it moves away!" said the New York Telegram. "Exceptionally fine—impressive!" said the New York American. "Really great—gorgeous!" said the Morning Telegraph. "It is big; it is enormous; go and see it!" said the New York World. "Vastly worth while!" said the New York Sun and Globe.

This is your opportunity to see this great production. It will be shown at the Apollo Theatre for four days starting Monday, Dec. 10th.

It is the greatest love story ever told. You've never seen a picture like this—it's a picture that you will never forget.

JAMES ZANTAS, Manager Apollo Theater.

4 States Require Crossing Stops

Four states—Montana, Virginia, North Carolina and Tennessee—have laws requiring all motor vehicles to come to a stop before crossing railroad tracks, says the South Janesville Safety committee in another communication to the city council requesting the enactment of such an ordinance in Janesville. Wisconsin is named as one of 22 states requiring bonded carriers to stop before crossing such places.

"The Northwestern has no intention of taking off its gatesmen or flagmen providing such an ordinance was passed in Janesville and we are perfectly willing that an ordinance should exempt such places when the flagmen or gatesmen are on duty," says the committee.

The communication was read at Monday night's council meeting but no action was taken on it.

BUSINESS WOMEN TO MEET, MONDAY

Plans for an interesting program next Monday night in connection with the supper meeting of the Y. W. Business Women's club, were made at a committee meeting Tuesday night. The program will be at 8:15. Supper is served at 6:15, followed by a business session and class activities. Those who do not care to join the gym or Christmas gift classes for the period, 7:15 to 8:15, are invited to bring Christmas handcraft from home to work on during this hour.

The Young Women's Council met Tuesday night and laid plans for a Christmas tree in connection with the party on Dec. 18. Suppers for girls employed in industry will be resumed after the holidays.

Girl Reserves are packing a box of Christmas gifts this week to be sent to Indian boys and girls in a sanitarium at Toledo, Ia.

The class in Italian cut-work will not meet again until after Christmas.

INSURANCE CASE GIVEN TO JURY

Trial of $1,800 Suit of Mierswa Construction Company Started.

The $1,800 suit of Warren Latta Clinton factor, against the Fidelity Phoenix fire insurance company was placed in the hands of a 12-man jury in the circuit court early Wednesday afternoon, after arguments by attorneys and instructions were given by Judge George Grimm.

Selection of a jury to try the $1,800 suit of Harry Mierswa against the Beloit Water, Gas and Electric company started Wednesday afternoon when the fire insurance case went to the jury.

The whole defense of the insurance company for failure to pay the insurance due as the result of the $20,000 loss sustained in May when the farm buildings, stock and equipment were destroyed, has been misrepresentation on the part of Latta. The incumbrances on the place totaled $30,000 whereas the insurance company claims they were only advanced of $16,000. The plaintiff testified that he told the insurance agents to go to the bank to learn of his indebtedness.

Cause Was Investigated. Walter S. Gorman, special agent for the insurance company, testified that Latta had advised him only of mortgages totaling $16,000 and did not tell him about the one for $14,000. On his cross-examination, Gorman admitted that he had made an investigation to determine whether the fire was incendiary or otherwise.

The plaintiff's case was closed Tuesday with C. E. Culver, Robert Snyder, J. H. Green, Pearl Dunphy, C. J. Tiffany, Mrs. Carrie Latta and Miss Jennette Latta, 11 years old, and F. W. Herron testifying. The defense relied upon the testimony of James and Walter Scobie, Robert Carey, F. W. Herron and J. B. Lloyd for presentation of its case.

The plaintiff's claim for damages was reduced to $1,800. Wednesday morning a deduction of $750 from the $9,600 originally asked being made on account of property covered by a chattel mortgage.

Judge Grimm overruled the motion for non-suit made by the defense before arguments commenced. Trying the case are C. P. Richardson and M. O. Mount, Janesville, for the plaintiff and Thomas Nolan, Janesville, for the defense, assisted by H. B. and Harry L. Thomas, Carrollton, Mo.

Mierswa Sues for $1,800. The suit of Harry Mierswa against the Beloit Water, Gas and Electric company for alleged loss of time and wages of employees, and injury to appliances, during sewer construction in the city of Beloit during June and July of this year. The plaintiff's contention in suit for $1,800 is that the work was hampered by "careless, negligent and injurious" acts of the company in permitting gas to escape from their pipes.

The trenches in which the Mierswa men worked were filled with "gas, poisonous, deleterious and injurious," as a result, it is claimed.

It is contended by the plaintiff that although repeatedly notified, the Beloit public utility did nothing to alleviate the situation, but allowed the gas to continue to escape thus hindering and hampering the work of the Mierswa Construction company.

MOCK TRIAL WILL FEATURE PROGRAM FOR FATHERS, SONS
The regular father and son observance of the local H. C. A. Wednesday night. A banquet and social are on the program. It has been impossible to obtain a room for the mock trial, and it is probable that some of the other parts will be changed, but the program will be announced.

About 50 couples are expected. Conrad Kneip is in charge of the entertainment. A mother and son social probably will be given sometime in April.

TRIAL OF RADER ON IN DARLINGTON
Jury Selected in Murder Case; Courtroom Is Crowded.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE]
Darlington—With interest at high pitch, a crowded courtroom listened Tuesday afternoon to the trial of Monroe Rader, Cuba City, on a charge of first degree murder for the shooting to death of Elmer Ellsworth at New Digging, Nov. 5.

A jury of 12 men was selected Tuesday in the Lafayette county circuit court and the presentation of the state case by District Attorney J. B. Boyle, opened Wednesday morning twelve witnesses were called.

More than 15 additional witnesses will be put on the stand by the state. Accompanied by his wife, Rader sat silently Wednesday throughout the testimony on which the state expects to secure a verdict of guilty.

Rader shot Ellsworth at the latter's hotel after a card game, in which three other men sat. These are the state star witnesses. Tuesday morning the day following and Rader was taken into custody after he returned to his home several days later.

The jury selected Tuesday is as follows: D. W. Rowe, Thomas Coffey, Orville Huggins, John Bradley, A. Blaisdell, John Christopher, Dennis McConnell, William McGreene, Ernest Islet, James McPhillips, Ray Nethery, and Charles McManus.

ELKS GET TITLE TO MYERS BLOCK

Theater Building Is Formally Transferred to Local Lodge.

Ownership of the Myers theater building was turned over to the Janesville Elks lodge, Tuesday. The deed was filed in the register of the county in the court house late in the afternoon.

The Elks paid $12,000 in cash to Peter L. Myers and his wife, co-owners. The lodge assumes a mortgage of $37,000, remaining due on one of $40,000 originally held by the late Michael Hayes and now held by the Hayes estate.

The property was conveyed to Thomas J. Welch, W. P. Sayles and L. A. Avery, trustees of Janesville Elks, 254.

The theater, the two-floor lodge rooms of the Elks and the Moose lodges; and the stores of Dewey & Dault, the rest room, Nimmer's confectionery and the Chamber of Commerce are included in the sale. One half of the building in the rear, housing the heating plant, is included. The Elks will lease the balance from Michael Hayes, the former owner, who now is dean of the medical school of Oregon university at Portland.

The papers were drawn by L. A. Avery and were witnessed by M. Prudence Hocking and Hazel M. Lusted.

The non-support charge against Edward Reynolds, arrested in Milwaukee, has been dismissed as Vine has rejoined his wife and is now living with her. He paid the costs, amounting to $20.35.

WAR ON SPEEDERS IS PLANNED HERE

Police to Pick Up All Traveling Over 20 Miles an Hour.

Automobile drivers in Janesville will find it cheaper to cut down their speed, judging from a warning sounded Wednesday by Chief Charles Newman, in which he declared that patrolmen have been instructed to turn in every motorist caught traveling more than 20 miles an hour. The warning was issued as a follow-up of a lengthy discussion by the police board last night in which it was charged that wholesale speeding is being indulged in throughout the city, to the danger of women and children and pedestrians generally.

Busy days in municipal court are anticipated as a result of the proposed drive on speeders.

Taxicab owners and drivers of which have been warned many times, will be watched closely from now on and the names of all violators of any kind will be turned in to the chief.

"We intend to keep all cars at 20 miles an hour or less," Chief Newman said.

BELOIT POLICE IN LIQUOR CAMPAIGN

Vigorous Drive Being Waged by New Chief Nets Results.

A $1,000 fine and jail sentence totaling 14 months were given late Tuesday by Judge John B. Clark of the Beloit municipal court to three men caught in the liquor cleanup being staged under the new Beloit chief of police, L. J. Williams.

The men were as follows: Abe Welsch, Chicago, driver of an automobile in which 60 gallons of alcohol was found, fined $1,000 and jail sentence for transportation of liquor, to which he pleaded guilty.

Harold Benson, Beloit, operator of a still, eight months in the county jail, fined $1,000, to which he pleaded guilty to manufacture and possession of liquor.

Robert Martin, Beloit, six months, three months on possession of liquor and three for manufacture of liquor. He was employed by Benson, a tenant farmer on highway 61.

James Stowell, Beloit, an occupant of the Welsch car in which the 60 gallons of alcohol was found, charged with carrying concealed weapons. Police took a .38 calibre revolver away from him. He pleaded not guilty and will have his hearing Monday.

Welsch was unable to produce the $1,000 cash and with Benson and Martin was brought to the county jail Wednesday afternoon.

Martin is the brother of the man now serving a life sentence in Waukegan for murder. He has been in the Beloit county municipal court.

A warrant for violation of the liquor laws was to be asked by Beloit police for Harley Irish, a farmer on the Madison road near Beloit, as the result of a raid on his farm when he was not at home. About 25 gallons of wine and many jugs were taken to the station. More than 25 gallons of grape and apple wine were found at the farm.

A still was found in full operation at the Benson place when police called.

Meetings Help to Standardize Work

Another of the series of county Y. M. C. A. conferences being held in various parts of this territory, will be held at Orlfordville at 2:30 p. m. Sunday. The Rev. C. L. Atkins, Edgerton, will be the principal speaker, and will talk on the organization and benefits of boys' work, which will be the general theme of the entire discussion.

Others who will appear are Prof. Seligman, Seligson of Orlfordville, who will speak on "Building a Program;" Roy Cole, leader of the Newark group, on "The Purpose of Group Work;" and a report of the Wausau Orlford Boys Conference last week will be given by Oren Loftus of Orlfordville.

The series of conferences has been successful to date, and is doing much to standardize the county Y. M. C. A. work through the exchange of suggestions as to organization and leadership. In J. K. Arnot, county secretary, is in general charge.

Board is Vindicated
Settlement of the high school penalty squabble on the basis of a $5,000 payment to the city, is a distinct victory for the city and a complete vindication of the school board in its firm stand that the contractors abide by the terms of their agreement. When the contractors put in their bill of several thousand dollars for extras at the completion of the job and were partially sustained by the arbitrators' board, the school board then took the stand that the city had a few "extras" due it in the form of non-completion of the building on scheduled time, August 1. After many lengthy discussions in which it was seen no headway could be made toward a settlement out of court, the matter was finally put in the hands of the city council, which in turn assigned the task to a special committee. With the result that the $5,000 settlement was reached.
It would have been easier for the school board to say, "No, we won't demand liquidated damages." It was not their money that was involved. It was the public's. But they had principles to live up to and the best interests of the public to serve, so they chose the more unpleasant road and fought it through to the end that the taxpayers will benefit.
To the credit of the contractor it should be said that no one has any fault to find with the new building. He worked as though he intended it to be one of the great achievements of his life and there is none who will say he did not succeed.

Change of venue may be a chimera, after all.

"Where Credit is Due."
Courage, ability and a love for the work are ever the qualities most sought in a policeman and in the passing from the city's service of Patrick Slein and William Saxby, Janesville has lost two policemen in whom these qualities were paramount. Both accomplished much in the interest of law enforcement and city betterment, and it is to be regretted that each had a falling which counterbalanced his good points to such a great degree in the eyes of his authority.
In the whirl of condemnatory statements that have been made, the things commendatory in each man should not be forgotten. While the Gazette holds no brief for either in the trend of events which had their climax last week, it does believe a great amount of credit is due both men.
No man can gain the fact that Patrick Slein did not put forth every quality in his make-up in the interests of the police force and the city. He was feared by every violator of the law and it was largely through his diligent work that the depot section of the city was cleaned up so that women and girls felt safe there as in any other section of Janesville.

William Saxby stood up gamely under the fire of a negro gunman a few months ago, and though badly wounded, succeeded in capturing single-handed both the armed assailant and his fleeing target, another negro. Another bright spot in the record of this officer is the capture of A. W. Rhodes, one of the most sought automobile thieves in this section. Mr. Saxby was also instrumental in bringing about the arrest of two robbers who made good-sized hauls in Janesville three years ago.
Philadelphia has sent several hundred customers of bootlegging joints to jail. That appears to be a case of retributive justice.

When You Look at the Moon.
Arthur Stanley Eddington, professor of astronomy in Cambridge University, has advanced a new theory as to the origin of the moon. He has an idea that sometime about ten million or a hundred million years ago—the exact date doesn't matter—this whirling globe of ours, the earth, got quite a bit lopsided. A nodule formed on one side, and grew larger and larger until the speeding world could not hold it any longer and catapulted it into space, where it came into gravitational rest 238,000 miles away, and took up the work of influencing tides and lovers which it has performed ever since.

But the hurling of this chunk of material into the ether produced a great change in the appearance of the earth. Up to that point the cooling world was covered with shallow water, populated by amphibian life. But the creation of the moon made a deep hollow on one side of the globe, into which most of this water flowed, forming the Pacific ocean, and leaving a considerable part of the earth dry. Thus land animals and vegetation got their start.
So when you look at the moon, these fine nights, you may think it for your place in the universe. But for it, you might have been a fish.

Getting the Breweries.
The sound of popping strings is heard in the land.
At last prohibition agents who knew long ago what was needed to be done in Pennsylvania and elsewhere in order to control the increasingly bad law enforcement situation have seized 29 breweries valued at many millions of dollars.
These breweries are alleged to have been part of the group which has constantly violated the prohibition law with impunity. The seizure was made under the revised statutes relating to internal revenue as well as under the Volstead act. It is proposed that the properties shall be labeled to the United States Marshal. An adverse ruling by a federal court will be appealed and it is not

THE VALUE OF PAIN

By FREDERICK J. HASKIN.
Washington. In the midst of pressing political business President Coolidge took time off to write a cordial letter accepting the honorary presidency of the Gorgas Memorial Institute of Tropical and Preventive Medicine, to be established at Panama City. Five million dollars is to be raised for this purpose by popular subscription, and no more difficulty is anticipated in securing this amount than was experienced by the Red Cross in raising funds for stricken Japan. American generally knows no stint when relieving human pain is the object in view.

Nor is this high valuation of pain a modern development. The early Roman law, while recognizing slavery, carefully prescribed the amount of pain any master might inflict upon his slaves. During the Middle Ages, when the value of pain was lost sight of, great barbarity and decadence resulted. But English law began, gradually, to take account of pain. If one person injured another, the individual hurt could collect more damages for his pain and suffering than could be collected by his heirs if he were killed outright. American law today, in most states, limits the damages for accidental killing of another person to a fixed amount, usually about $5,000, but if the injured individual lives, even for a few seconds and suffers conscious pain, there is no limit to the sum a jury may award for his suffering.
Nearly everybody instinctively agrees with this high valuation of pain, but very few realize the high value that nature herself has placed upon it in building up the human organism. Pain is the danger signal, and our bodies are so made that we are obliged to obey it, whether we want to or not. And the receiving stations for this natural danger signal are distributed over the body just where they will do the most good.

Scientists of ancient times believed that the whole body, inside and out, was sensitive to pain. Surgeons began to operate, however, before anesthetics were discovered, and as a result of this early surgery it was found that there were regions inside the body where no pain at all was felt. The intestines, for instance, can be cut and handled quite roughly without pain to the owner. This is a comforting fact to remember when the papers report that some hardy patient has taken only a local anesthetic so that he can watch the operation performed upon himself. Cutting through the body wall would be painful, but the local anesthetic, usually an injection of cocaine, stops all sensation there. And once the surgeon gets inside the body he can ease away at his heart's content without bothering the patient at all. This fact led investigators to the conclusion that they must look for special pain organs in the body.

Everybody knows that sticking a needle into the flesh is a painful experience. But only those who have experienced upon themselves with considerable care realize that there are many spots to be found where a needle can be thrust deeply into the body without causing the slightest sensation. Again, there are places where the slightest touch of a needle's point arouses pain instantly. These are called "pain spots," and have been plotted out with considerable care by psychological investigators, as a seaman plots out islands on a navigator's map. It is estimated that the average number of pain spots on the human body is about 3,000,000.

After this discovery it was thought that the problem of pain organs was solved. Each pain spot was found to lie near the end of a tiny nerve fibril, and it was believed that an organ too small to be seen with the microscope must be attached to the nerve ending to give rise to the feeling of pain. But such theoretical organs have never been found.

On the contrary, it has since been found that only those nerves which have no special organs, called "end organs," attached to them can cause pain at the slightest touch. But other end organs which at first produce a sensation of touch, or of cold, or of warmth, will cause pain if the pressure or temperature applied to them is too intense. The difference is only one of intensity of "stimulation." This discovery has led to an entirely new theory of pain in recent years which credits the nerves back of the skin with causing a sensation to be felt as painful.

An English physician, Dr. Hoad, resolved to answer this question by a series of experiments. He cut a nerve trunk out in his elbow, so that no sensations at all could be felt in his hand and lower forearm. Then the severed nerve was tied together, and it began slowly to heal. As this process went on, there appeared areas on his hand where he could feel touch, but could feel no pain at all, no matter how intensely the hand was stimulated. Dr. Hoad concluded, therefore, that there must be special pain fibrils in the general nerve trunk which had been cut. The touch fibrils, from the parts of the hand referred to, healed first, thus bringing back messages of touch to the brain. But until the pain fibrils healed, no pain whatever could be felt.

Another Englishman, Dr. Sherrington, completed the tracing of pain messages from skin to brain. He experimented upon animals, sending electric currents over the nerves inside the spinal column. As a result, Sherrington discovered that whenever any nerve was stimulated too intensely, the excess nerve current was drained off into a sort of safety-valve nerve, or pain fibril. Thus we may feel touch and pain at the same time, from the same cause. But when these pain fibrils reach the spine, they are all combined into a sort of pain conduit, where all the over-intense nerve currents, or impulses from all over the body, can travel without burning out the rest of the nervous system. Thus has nature provided a special telephone line, as it were, between the outside of the body and the brain, made of extra heavy wire to carry emergency messages.

No begin to feel pain, probably, before we are born. Certainly within a few hours after birth the baby stomach begins to squeeze together causing "hunger pangs." Immediately all else is forgotten. The baby cries and howls until he gets his food, and his internal pain is thus appeased. Similarly, with grown-ups, a good, sharp hunger pang will take precedence of all else. The words of a friend gain scant attention, once the hunger pangs begin. And, in light of the discoveries of Hoad and Sherrington, we know why this must be so. The pain messages have a specially built trunk-line to the brain, so that they can always take precedence over all other sensations. A pain always means that the body is being injured, and nature has devised the clever plan above described to force us to pay immediate attention to the spot threatened.

Our bodies, in short, are so arranged that whenever we feel pain we know we must get rid of it instantly, at all costs. History shows that nations whose laws and customs have placed the highest value on getting rid of pain have advanced most rapidly. The quick response of the United States to the call of human suffering is, therefore, one of the healthiest signs of American progress.

expected eventually to handicap the present policy.
Some of the regulations which have governed prohibition agents in the securing of evidence against breweries in the past have made it almost impossible for them to do their work in a satisfactory way. It has been this as much as the immunity of certain highly placed enforcement officials who have violated their trust which has brought criticism upon the policies of the treasury in the enforcement of the prohibition law.
The evidence in regard to the violation of the law by these breweries has been accumulating for months.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.
MOTHER CARES
Never a button to sew.
Never a stocking to mend.
Free to come and to go
From dawn to the long day's end;
Never a hurt to dread
Whenever they're out of sight,
Never a little bend
Drawn up at your own at night.
Never a brow to feel,
Searching a fever sign,
Never a hurt to heal,
Never a fever line,
Never a dress to make—
Only yourself to please—
Surely your heart must ache
Missing such cares as these.

Oh, there is much to do,
And heavy the weight of care
Telling the long day through,
And oh! there is much to bear.
Anxiety and grief and tears,
Dread of the bitterest loss.
Are part of a mother's years,
And yet they are sweet to know.
Better the hurt and pain,
Better to work and sew,
To have and to lose again,
Than never their love to know.
There is calm at the long day's end,
And sweet is a mother's care,
So give me the dress to mend,
And give me the pain to bear.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT
By ROY K. MOULTON.

He was alone. He stepped softly to the port-hole and peered out. All was quiet. An inkiness blackness met his gaze. As he strained his eyes for the first glimpse of the night, his patience was rewarded. Slowly a faint glow appeared directly in front of him. Gradually it spread and the sun crept up over an island that seemed to be about two miles ahead. Dawn in the tropics. He could almost hear the gentle wash of the waves on the distant beach. He waited patiently for a few moments, then heaved a sigh of relief. Everything was all right. Suddenly he turned to the machine at his side. The picture was out of frame again. He was the operator in a movie theater.

Who's Who Today

DR. PAUL KAMMERER.
"Darwin's successor" is the title given Dr. Paul Kammerer, Viennese biologist, associate of Dr. Eugen Steinhack and rated as one of Europe's foremost scientists, who is now in the United States.

Dr. Kammerer is credited with beginning "where Darwin left off" with the theories of evolution and the heredity of the acquired characteristics. But he is known equally well for his work in rejuvenation along the lines pursued by the great Steinhack.

Dr. Kammerer is young as famous scientists go. He is 43 years of age, sparse in build and has an engaging smile and manner. He began his researches in biology in Vienna in 1900 and pursued them until war conditions and poverty forced him to leave the Austrian capital. He comes to the U. S. as the first assistant of Dr. Steinhack to make the trip to this country.

THE DOSE OF SLEEP
One of the theories of normal sleep is that it is brought about by the accumulation of acid waste products in the blood to a concentration sufficient to induce fatigue in the brain cells, which results finally in sufficient depression of their activity to suppress consciousness.
The constant activity of muscles during the waking hours—even though the individual sits at a chair or is at a desk—acts as a constant activity of the heart muscle and various glands of the body cause a gradual accumulation of acid waste products, particularly lactic acid compounds, since their oxidation and removal or destruction cannot keep pace with their production. The accumulation of lactic acid compounds in the muscles is known to be the direct cause of fatigue. If lactic acid or its sodium salt is injected into the blood it will bring on a condition of fatigue and finally a state of unconsciousness. The brain cells in actively also produce acid waste, though in far less quantity than the muscles do. Muscular activity, whether work or play, is more active as a waste producer than mere brain or "nervous" activity; the normal child who plays actively needs more sleep than the frail or abnormal child who does nothing at all. The laborer and the athlete need, relatively more sleep than the person who lives by his wits or prefers sports to games.
Another theory of sleep is due to diminished blood flow to the brain cells. By means of a glass plate in the skull physiologists have observed that the brain becomes paler during sleep. It is well known that the pulse rate slows and the blood pressure falls and the size of the limbs increases from the greater amount of blood distributed to the extremities. The blood in the brain is not automatically controlled or regulated by vasomotor nerve control (contraction or dilation of arterioles) as it is in the body generally. The brain circulates its blood by means of a direct circulation in other parts of the body. Thus when the blood vessels in other parts of the body relax or dilate so that they hold more blood, the vessels in the brain contract and the blood because the blood is shunted elsewhere. Thus it is hard to do sleep when your feet are cold; a stiff dose of alcohol, which flushes the surface, conduces to drowsiness, though positively called "stimulant."
Of course we do not know certainly what the state of blood supply to the brain is during sleep, but we believe they share in the flush which is present in the vessels of the surface and is a general anesthetic and causes that it is normal and natural to sleep after a full meal, contrary to a popular fancy. And a bed time lunch helps a great many people to sleep peacefully. Perhaps the habit of going to bed "on a full stomach" comes from the unwise practice of overeating or indulging in improper food and drink late at night.
As regards children let 'em sleep!

Q. Where is Baron De Kalb buried?
A. Baron De Kalb is buried under a monument in the Presbyterian churchyard in Camden, S. C.
Q. Why will a top stand on its pivot when spinning but will not when still?
A. When spinning it stands on its pivot because the turning motion tends to lower the center of gravity, thus forcing a temporary state of equilibrium. This is known as unstable equilibrium. When the turning motion ceases, the center of gravity is raised, and the top falls over.
Q. What was Rube Goldberg's occupation before he became a cartoonist?
A. He graduated from college as a mining engineer and worked at that profession for about three months. He then went to the San Francisco Chronicle. His first big hit as a cartoonist came after he had forsaken San Francisco for New York, and was the "Foolish Question" series.
Q. Is there a frequent quarrel between women preachers?
A. The viewpoint of women who have adopted this profession may be gathered from the fact that the International Association of Women Preachers, meeting in Chicago in September, demanded equal rights in the pulpit. Delegates representing 17 commissions voted to form an alliance with other women organizations to rid the woman preacher of her presence in the pulpit.

Winter Recipes

For Canned Foods
Wise and economical is the housewife who saves the food that suits the season.
Fresh foods should be given precedence in the diet, but when winter sets in the logical compromise is to turn to the canned food months. So we offer now, through our Washington Information Bureau, a booklet full of the best of canned food recipes.
This booklet is a recipe masterpiece on canned foods. It contains 24 recipes for soups, 20 for food dishes, 17 for entrees, and substantial dishes, 51 for vegetables, 35 for salads, 12 for sauces, 12 for sandwiches, 10 for appetizers, and 35 for desserts—more than 200 recipes in all.

Regular War Horse.
A farmer sold a horse to a cavalry officer, warranting the animal to be a first rate war horse. Some time afterward the officer came to the farmer in a rage and said: "You call this animal a good war horse? Why, there's not a bit of so in him! A good war horse, indeed!"
"So he is," replied the farmer, "since he's rather old than young."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Gives Reason For Success Of Well Known Physician

Used Purely Vegetable Syrup to Relieve Stomach Troubles, Nervousness, Headaches, and Run Down Health.
Build Yourself Up!
Science has now come to the aid of nature in offering quick relief! After years of research and practice, Dr. Thacher perfected a tonic that causes no constipation or harsh, dangerous drugs. It is a syrup of purely vegetable ingredients now known for their corrective and health-building properties. It is designed to help nature cleanse and tone the liver, increase appetite, improve digestion, nourish and build up the system and send purer and healthier red blood coursing through the veins.
Try It! Just a spoonful of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. You will be completely satisfied; otherwise, druggists are authorized to refund the small purchase price. Clip this coupon and you will receive, free, Dr. Thacher's "As Sold in Janesville by McCreary & Bush Drug Company, Smith's Pharmacy and J. H. Bliss; in Edgerton by Atwell-Dallman Drug Company and Dean Swift; in Evansville by R. L. Collins; and by leading druggists in each city and town. —Advertisement.

Three Causes For Relief!
There are three scientific reasons why it is necessary to keep the liver in good condition in order to feel your best. First—your liver purifies your blood; Second—it furnishes the essences that are essential to perfect digestion and nourishment; Third—it supplies the secretions which regulate the intestines so that your bowels can move naturally and regularly every day.
But when the liver becomes clogged and sluggish, it cannot do these three things properly. Consequently your tongue becomes coated, digestion is poor, your bowels do not move often enough, you feel weak, nervous and tired—and then your real suffering begins.

Have You a Mortician?
The work of a funeral director is, in its way, fully as important as the work of your doctor, lawyer, or any other professional man. Yet all too often folks leave the selection of the mortician up to mere chance.
The wiser thing to do is to decide in advance whom to call; this will assure you of the kind of service you should have. Look into the matter while you have the time and the inclination.

Sulphur Is Best To Clear Up Ugly Broken Out Skin

Any breaking out or skin irritation on face, neck or body is overcome quickest by applying Menotho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, nothing has ever been found to take the place of this sulphur preparation that instantly brings ease from the itching, burning and irritation.

Menotho-Sulphur heals eczema right up, leaving the skin clear and smooth. It seldom fails to relieve the torment or disfigurement. A little jar of Rowles Menotho-Sulphur may be obtained at any drug store. It is used like cold cream.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Were Going South—

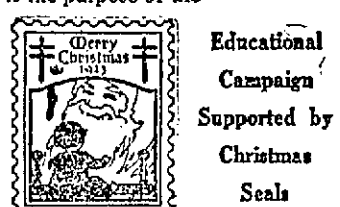

If I were taking a long vacation, I'd get a responsible party to take good care of my home until I returned. This wouldn't cost me anything, because whoever I got would be willing to pay me for the privilege.

I would rent my home for two or three months, make a nice sum of money, and not have to worry about the cat starving. A "Pet Boarder" in the Janesville Gazette-Washington Section would take care of this matter for me. Lots of my friends rent their homes this way, so I could count on getting results.

higher than in Janesville and furnishings for men are all higher. Only in women's ready to wear are the prices about as they are in Janesville, and as for style and fashion showing, the standards here are about what one sees in Janesville store windows. In the New York habitué's point of view, it is different, with garments running up into the hundreds of dollars. Then we get back to be a city of 20,000 and no longer compete with five million.

One noticeable thing about New York is the immense growth of the suburbs. The tube and the Pennsylvania road have made Long Island. Here is the greatest growth of population, though for miles in New Jersey what seven years ago was wild land is now covered with dwellings. Business is pushing the New York residents into the suburbs, and ten million people will be resident about this center in another ten years.

Everywhere uptown there is the enormous electric sign. There are the cabarets and the restaurants. The White Way is the show place for the out of town visitor. There are bits of the New York life in many of Franklin square no longer boasts the Harpers. The Herald building is a clothing store. There is no Newspaper Row of the nineties and before that. Staywest Square is a famous district. But the west side is still filled with boarding houses and St. Mark's place is just as full of push carts as ever. Front street and Fulton market are as always. Washington Square, the Washington Square of George William Curtis and Howells is there, but its dozens are would-be artists and imitation clubbers from a fairer home. In the neighborhood of hurrying crowds, with polyglot speech hurried like an explosion of fireworks all about a stranger, standing at the corner is as isolated as though he were alone. In the North Wisconsin woods standing on a deer run ten miles from a human habitation or a human being. Think of an immigrant landing from a ship, alone, with customs and customs and speech of a faraway land, unacquainted with terms of money and trade, ditched into the canyons of lower New York, and imagine what a prey he is for the buzzard waiting for him at a thousand trying places. About the first thing implanted in his soul is suspicion and suspicion breeds hate. Unprotected, he begins to seek ways of protecting himself, and in so doing he discovers that law is something to evade and not to support.

And then we talk with sentimental nonsense of legislating him into being Americanized.

Gasoline once was worthless. Not so now. Gasoline is a by-product in the distillation of petroleum, and was considered worthless. It was thrown away for years. It is now the mainstay of the oil industry, and millions of gallons are consumed daily. This change has taken place in the last 25 years. Gasoline today is almost as great a necessity as coal.

Mrs. Etta Smith and the union male quartet were on the program.

Miss Alice Eastman is spending this week in Janesville as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Robert Austin and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Richardson and two sons spent Sunday in Madison.

CYANIDE PLANT ON SILVER MOUNTAIN

Famous Old Mining Town Is Revived for Benefit of Movie Fans.

Washington, D. C.—New paint gleams on many shacks in Virginia City. "This modest newspaper local out of the Nevada mountains means little to most Americans," remarks a bulletin from the National Geographic society. "In western mining country, where there's paint, there's hope. Amid debris of exhausted mines on a giant shoulder of Mount Davidson, once the most prodigious silver-producing center the world has known, a new industry is being born. A hope has been recently completed, a stern, businesslike building. Within it, the machinery of a modern silver cyanide reduction plant. Into its huge maw goes 2,000 tons of ore a day, an amount greater than that taken from the entire Comstock vein in bonanza days of 1865 when 50 mills were grinding. It is said that "Old men nod their heads, point thumbs in vests, and toss off an 'I told you so.' Prodigious scarcely describes the virgin lode of former days; this sleek, unblemished, rich vein produced 500,000,000 worth of silver.

Dug in Mountains.

"Some think this new monument to hope in Virginia City was erected by a silver company. True, the company built it, but that new plant has actually been subscribed for with the dime and quarters the American people have paid to see the 'movies.' Pickers that millions see on picture screens, side-splitting antics, harrowing sobas of heroines, dark tragedy, and all the happy-ever-after do not come out of Hollywood originally; they are dug out of Nevada mountains. Mined silver becomes silver nitrate, which catches the fading image on a film. One company alone uses three tons of silver bullion a week to produce 10,000,000 feet of motion-picture film. "Hollywood," the picture makers call it, "is the silver mine of the world. Joyfully accepted a reporter's job on the Virginia City 'Enterprise' at $25 a week. That was in the early twenties. A few months later the Comstock vein was owned by Samuel Clemens, with so much money in his pockets he did not stoop to collect his salary. 'Covered' the silver rush from this vein were the wonder of Virginia City. Its stock went sky high. On one of the lumps of 'native silver' was discovered the mine had been 'salted' with melted half dollars. Stock fell!

"Silver mining left Virginia City for new fields: Tonopah, Nevada, Montana, and other centers. But for years old men who lived on memories used to sit in the San Francisco stock exchange waiting for a new strike. The days when every man of 15,000 adventures was a son of legendary blazes. There is still silver on Mount Davidson, but it was not until many old timers had passed on that the new plant could be put up to make extraction on a large scale pay. Except for the United States government, the photographic industries are the greatest users of silver today. Uncle Sam uses it for coins and Rochester, N. Y., industries use it for movie films. And food for the amateur camera. United States produces one-third of the world's silver; Mexico competes with United States for leadership and Canada follows third.

"Silver is a good soldier. The Comstock rush was at its height in 1865 when United States was torn by civil war. It is said that millions, brought needed aid to the Union in a dark hour.

Fought For Allies.

"Silver fought a good wood fight in the World War. In 1918 the allied armies were battling desperately. Every available man was on the fighting line. One of the things the allies needed was just sunny smiling is another name for Jute. There is only one place in the world to get jute—India. Patiently the British government, by jute purchases, had withdrawn nearly all the silver certificates. Britain, Germany learned this and began propaganda in India. A run on Indian banks would have destroyed the confidence of the nation in Britain and thrown India into revolt.

"Silver must be found somewhere to save India, and possibly to save the allies. Supplies of mined silver had been exhausted. There was one big source of silver, the vaults of United States treasury. Here great piles of silver dollars backed out silver certificates. Britain asked for that silver. United States said it gladly. More than $100,000,000 worth of silver dollars were melted and sent to India, later to be replaced in the vaults by new purchases through the Pittman silver act. That's how silver helped win the war."

LA FOLLETTE BLOC QUITS WAR AFTER RULES CONCESSION

convened Mr. Nelson made the following statement:

"A committee of the progressive group of the house of representatives consisting of Messrs. Woodruff and Laguardia and myself met with Majority Leader Longworth last evening and discussed the proposed procedure for a revision of the rules of the house. At this meeting mutual assurances were given that the following program would be carried out:

"First, that the rules of the sixty-seventh congress should be adopted as the rules of the sixty-eighth congress for 30 days only.

"Second, that during the 30 days amendments to the rules may be offered by any member, to be referred to the committee on rules, which committee shall consider such amendments and make a report thereon to the house.

Time for Recommendation.

"Third, within such 30 days, the committee shall make a report of the rules and such amendments as they recommend. The rules and amendments as reported by the committee shall be subject to reasonable discussion, amendment and record votes of the house.

"Fourth, when the committee shall have made its report, any member of the house shall have opportunity to offer amendments to any rule of the house and may call for a record vote thereon, whether such rule has been included in the report of the committee or not.

"Fifth, one motion to recommit shall be in order."

HOW TO ANSWER CLASSIFIED ADS.

In answering classified or want ads, which ask that the applicant address some certain number, please send such as 347, our readers are again asked to hear in mind that this office has nothing to do with the advertiser's ad. In answering must bring or mail their answers to this office, addressed with the 347 or whatever it may be. This office acts in a similar capacity to the post office, turning over the answers to the person who advertises. He in turn will then, if he desires, telephone or write to the person who is seeking the position.

It must also be borne in mind that the Gazette can not reveal the identity of the advertiser, who of course would not have advertised in the ad if he wished the applicants to call on him in person.

CLASSIFIED AD REPLIES

At 10:00 o'clock today there were replies in the Gazette office in the following boxes:

63, 11, 74, 80, 13, 88, 86.

"EXPRESSION OF GRATITUDE" AND "IN MEMORIAM CARDS"
